TELL TRAGIC STORY Former Rear Admiral and Family Forced From Palace

RIISSIAN REFIIGEFS

to One-room Home Welcome Land of Free and Will Learn Americanism in

Camden Schools

From a luxurious palace in Nickolies, Russia, to a single squalid room in Constantinople, where six persons huddled together for months in a state of hunger that was never fully satisfied-usu together for months in a state of bunger that was never fully satisfied—this was the gamut of experience through which passed Month Arterial Research of the Imperial Hussian Navy, who, with her three children, is now Nicholas W. Akimoff at Wynnewood. Mime. Zaeff, who arrived with her husband and children in New York on in her voice, or her joy in reaching this country. "I can be muiet here," were the simple words with which he extra companied them shows more elequently than the words the musher were accompanied them shows more elequently than the words with which he extra exceptable them shows more elequently than the words with which he can be a state of the simple words with months in Nickolies, with her hardslips through which shows the simple words the present passes of the present passes and the state of the present passessions, from the furnishment of the present passessions, from the furnish with the money thus raised set out to Schastopol in the hope of finding the Admiral there.

In Wrangel Revolution In Wrangel Revolution
Although she was not disappointed, the reunion of the family was only temporary, for in the vounter-revolution property in the vounter-revolution and the second of the second of the second of the work of transferring refugees from Schastopol to Constantionale that they were again reuni 1 for the months with the second of the sec

Mr. Mr. Akimoff to bring them to this country. Zaeft, who stopped over in New York, will arrive at Wynnewood today, and later the entire family will take up their residence at 215 Pearl street, Canden, so that the children, of, can attend the public school in which Miss Helen Buchanan, sister of Mrs. Akimoff, is in charge of, a special department for foreign children.